

SURGEONS MEET THEIR PRESIDENT

China. Their shoulder straps were of red and silver, and there was much white lace on their caps and on their uniforms of black. Dr. Yau wore a green and white belt and Dr. King-chang a black belt, while on the collars of both was the dragon of China.

Following the presentation of the guests, the party adjourned to the palm room, where a buffet supper was served. By 11 o'clock the cigars were in evidence, and the reception was soon thereafter at an end.

Will Elect Gorgas.

It is a matter of general regret that Colonel William C. Gorgas, the first vice-president, is unable to be present. He used up his leave this year in attending the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, of which he was the retiring president, and is forced to remain on duty in the Panama Canal Zone, which he has the credit of cleaning up, to the exclusion of Yellow Jack and other former residents of that strip. Colonel Gorgas lived in Richmond during the War Between the States, where his father was ordained officer for the Army of Northern Virginia. He has not, however, been to this city for forty years.

His absence is not expected to interfere with his election as president at to-day's session, in accordance with the usual custom of rotation.

All of the business of the association will be transacted to-day at two sessions, which will be for members only, to be held at 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. The election of officers will be held in the afternoon.

To-night comes the formal opening exercises in the Jefferson auditorium. Governor Mann will welcome the association for the city, and Dr. Stuart McDuffie for the local medical profession. President Weaver will then deliver his annual address. The public is invited.

Some Visitors.

Among the arrivals yesterday were Dr. E. Juradoy E. Gama, of San Luis Potosi, representing the republic of Mexico; Major Charles Lynch, of Washington, secretary of the association; Dr. W. T. Thackeray, of Chicago; Surgeon Middleton Elliott, United States

Frank I. Williams, clerk to Secretary Charles Lynch, is a resident of headquarters, giving out information to members, visitors and newspaper men. Changes in the constitution, proposed to be made, will be considered in the business session to-day.

The Chinese delegates are pleasing all with their conduct, their education and their intelligence.

MANOBOS TRIBE IS ON RAMPAGE

Eight Christians Are Killed by Rebellious Savages in Philippines.

Washington, October 31.—Eight Christians, one an American, and two Chinese have been killed and much property belonging to foreigners has been destroyed by the rebellious Manobos tribesmen in the Philippines, according to a report from Brigadier-General Pershing to the War Department to-day. For a week or more two bands of about 100 Manobos have been terrorizing the people on the west coast of Davao, in southeastern Mindanao Island. Their raids have been directed against the foreign element. Two companies of the Third United States Infantry were sent to suppress the disorder.

General Pershing does not regard the situation as serious. Labor troubles are believed by War Department officials to be responsible for the uprising among the Manobos. The latter are of the lowest type of Filipino, it is said. They are indolent, and resent any effort to compel them to work. It is presumed here that the outbreak has resulted from too vigorous measures.

All of the business of the association will be transacted to-day at two sessions, which will be for members only, to be held at 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. The election of officers will be held in the afternoon.

Have the Planters.

Boston, October 31.—The troubles in Davao province, Mindanao Island, are due to the hatred and distrust manifested towards some of the planters by the natives. In the opinion of the Misses Metcalf, two Boston women, who have just returned from Santa Cruz, Davao province, after a residence of five years in the Philippines. The troubles are not in the nature of an uprising, the Misses Metcalf explained to-day, because the natives are so ignorant that they do not know of the existence of any government, their knowledge being confined to those things within a radius of ten miles of the place of abode.

GREAT FUTURE FOR RICHMOND

President of National Biscuit Company Calls It Fine Distributing Point.

That Richmond is one of the greatest distributing centers in the country for certain commodities is the opinion of A. J. Green, president of the National Biscuit Company, who arrived here yesterday for a brief visit. Accompanying the president are Mrs. Green and their two daughters. They arrived over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, about Mr. Green's private car, "Plymouth Rock."

It was Mr. Green who originated the catch phrase, "Uneeda," which has been added to the vocabulary of seven different languages. Commensurate with the success of the syndicate in the exploitation of the "uneeda biscuit" has been that of the man who coined it since he forsook the bar ten years ago to become the head of one of the greatest of American manufacturing concerns. From the modest business of the Chamber of Commerce, it was the start of the National Biscuit company, which has become a leader among modern manufacturing industries.

Mr. Green's opinion of Richmond as a distributing center is based upon the success his own company has met with here. The Richmond branch of the company, intending originally to cater only to the demands of the local trade, now supplies hundreds of miles of adjacent territory. Occupying a strategic point, both by reason of geographical location and the superb shipping facilities which are enjoyed here, Richmond has come to be regarded as a great distributing center in a class with the six or seven largest cities in the country.

While enjoying a lucrative law practice in Chicago, Mr. Green conceived the idea of the great business of which he is now the head. He was at the time counsel for a Chicago baking house, which later was one of several smaller concerns which combined in the original venture. To dwell on the success of the company is needless. From the very start growth has been rapid and consistent, and the annual output of the company now represents millions of dollars. Mr. Green attributes the success to advertising, combined, of course, with the quality of the goods produced.

Mr. Green is interested in the progress of the South, having just returned from an extended tour which covered many Southern States. He referred particularly to the progress of Richmond and Virginia, and his family may remain here for several days, not having definitely decided the length of their visit last night. They motored about the city yesterday afternoon, visiting places of interest.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Emporia, Va., October 31.—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the fifth Emporia Agricultural Fair to-morrow. The town has been decorated on both sides of the Shenandoah River, and all it requires to place the "big show" in motion is the opening of the gates.

Many free exhibitions have been promised by the fair managers, and the farm and agricultural exhibits, along with the poultry, swine and horse show, will prove attractive features of the program, as will the races scheduled during the present meet. There are in all about forty horses here, half of which are harness performers. Several good races are held for each day during the four days of the fair.

Next Thursday Emporians will celebrate the occasion as a general holiday, that being "Emporia Day." During the morning the Confederate Monument will be unveiled. Governor Mann and ex-Governor Montague, of Richmond, will make the principal addresses of the day for the out-of-town speakers. The gift will be presented to the people by County Clerk E. P. Turner, and will be received in the name of the people by Judge J. F. West of Waverly, the presiding judge of this circuit.

Many of the old Confederate veterans will be here and take part in the unveiling.
